Residential Recycling of Organics Education Event

The Town & EMES have teamed up with the Central Vermont Solid Waste Management District for an exciting composting event being offered in conjunction with the EMES annual open house.

On Wednesday, September 16th, at 5:30 p.m. in the EMES cafeteria, CVSWMD will give a presentation on backyard composting, with plans for DIY composters and demos of composters for sale. They will explain the basics of composting, give some tips on how to best manage a compost pile and display/explain soil savers and green cones. There will also be a brief overview of Vermont's Universal Recycling Law and how it affects food scrap management. We will leave plenty of time for questions. This will be a great introduction for new composters and may help long time composters learn new tips. Through a Central Vermont Solid Waste Management District grant program, residents of East Montpelier will be able to order discounted composters at this event.

There will be a drawing for a free green cone and soil saver. You can see more on the event, the Universal Recycling Law, and the available products on the town website: <http://eastmontpeliervt.org/composting-education-event-and-product-purchase-opportunity/>

If you have questions, comments or want to pre-order products, please contact Bruce Johnson, East Montpelier Town Administrator, at eastmontadmin@comcast.net or (802) 223-3313x204.
